

PRESS RELEASE

For Immediate Release

Contact: Renea Lewis

Media & Design Manager

Butler Animal Health Supply

(614) 659-1659

renea.lewis@butlerahs.com

Butler Animal Health Supply Enters into Exclusive Agreement with VetSource

(Dublin, OH – January 8, 2008) –Butler Animal Health Supply, LLC announced today that it has entered into an exclusive agreement with VetSource to market a new Home Delivery system for pet owners through veterinarians.

“In addition to the most innovative Home Delivery offering, Butler Animal Health Supply and VetSource will be introducing numerous inventory management programs, unique services, and client interaction tools that will enhance veterinary hospital efficiencies, revenue, and patient compliance unlike anything available in the profession today,” states Kevin R. Vasquez, Chairman & CEO of Butler Animal Health Supply.

David Laurance, President and CEO of Vetsource, commented “We are very excited about our alliance with Butler Animal Health Supply. In conjunction with other industry partners, this new combined offering will be a broad and useful value-added service that will serve the profession, clients, and their pets.”

About Butler Animal Health Supply

Butler Animal Health Supply, LLC (BAHS) serves companion animal, equine and large and food animal veterinarians throughout the United States. The Company is the largest distributor of animal health products in the United States with total sales, including agency sales, exceeding $1 Billion. BAHS employs over 700 employees with 15 strategically positioned distribution locations nationwide and plans of opening an additional branch in Denver, Colorado. BAHS maintains greater than 97% order fill ratio, accomplishing their mission of providing the right product, at the right place and at the right time.

Butler Animal Health Supply has eight Inside Sales Centers positioned across the country staffed by over 160 Inside Sales Representatives. A team of 230 experienced and knowledgeable Territory Managers meet with their veterinary customers and personally provide them with product information and value-added services. BAHS serves 29,000 veterinary clinics and distributes over 15,000 products for more than 300 vendors from its 15 branches.

In addition to the distribution of veterinary products, BAHS provides practice management software to the veterinary industry through DVM Manager. DVM Manager is utilized in more than 1,800 veterinary hospitals throughout the United States, and provides veterinarians with a total software solution, including Easy Online Order which integrates inventory management with an automated online ordering system.

Butler Animal Health Supply is a privately owned company, resulting from the merger between The Butler Company and Burns Veterinary Supply on July 1, 2005. Oak Hill Capital Partners, L.P. and Darby Group Companies, Inc. together own a controlling interest in Butler Animal Health Supply, LLC. For more information, visit: www.AccessButler.com.

About VetSource:

VetSource is positioned to become a North American leader in the home delivery of companion animal pharmaceutical products and pet nutrition. The company works with veterinarians to enhance the veterinarian-client-patient relationship by supporting practitioners through professional pharmacy services. VetSource also works to increase practice efficiencies and build practice revenue through value-added services including unique compliance enhancing programs.

- END -